

Society Woman's World and Work

By Lillian Crawford Perkins

A Survey of Self.
What have I done that men should praise?
And lead me to the skies?
Have I accomplished aught of good?
True worth that never dies?
Have I used my spirit lies?
That which God-given power
Which enables souls to rise?

Two Charming Little Ladies Who Belong in a Tulsa Home

Dolores and Maxine are the lovely little daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Kistler, of this city. They are five and three years of age, respectively.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

The scene shifts and the color scheme changes. Exit the stellar reign of the chrysanthemum and its exquisite colorful beauty. In pungent, spicy aromatic perfume to make way for the red and green of Christmas. Crispness points to the rich, rosy red of the American Beauties, crimson carnations; the wonderful far-reaching odor of the evergreen, pine, spruce, fir, and the holly leaves from the hothouse and wood that comes into its own at the Yuletide season. These bring a breath of the passing years and one becomes sadly retrospective or joyous as the case may be. The most wonderful thing about Christmas each year is that it is a Christmas all its own in anticipation and experience and that is what makes it so fascinating. Then, one must not overlook either the great spirit of Christmas, a divine one, that enters and pervades the sanctuaries of the heart in each individual.

Regarding the practical viewpoint of this most wonderful season, a mandate has come from officials in the woman's division, United States thrift and war savings stamps, they, having written directors in states and the secretaries also, asking them to put into active circulation the postage that early Christmas shopping is an expression of thrift and in line with the national movement to reduce by common sense measures the high cost of living. One official says:

"I hope that every thrift director in every community where the thrift message has reached will inaugurate through his organization and forces the movement to do Christmas shopping early, not only in the interest of economic values of such a movement, but the aid it will be to human labor saving, the aid it will be to the express agencies, the general mail facilities and the general conditions of activity during the Christmas season.

The general habit many people have, especially women, of leaving their Christmas shopping until the few days preceding Christmas day, is not only a wasteful one, but one very opposed to all that is rational. I would suggest to the women who comprise the thrift and war savings stamps forces that they send out an especial message at once, urging women not to wait another day, but to make a business of their Christmas shopping at once, doing it with consideration and deliberation, thus saving themselves money which can be so well expended in many good directions, and that they at the same time have in mind the aid it will be to the wage-earning men and women who are looked to, to produce good service at the season of the Christmas holidays."

Mrs. Roy Lundy, Mrs. W. M. Fleetwood and Mrs. Frances Fleetwood are the hostesses for the evening of December 2, at 3:30 o'clock. Mr. Percival E. Magee will deliver an address and Mrs. John Hadley will sing. A character dance by the school girls will also be an interesting part of the afternoon's program.

Mrs. Harry Castle will entertain on the afternoon of Thursday with a bridge-ten in the Country club.

Mrs. A. C. Hunt will entertain Monday with a line party in honor of Mrs. W. A. Coleman's guest, Mrs. E. E. Raines and Mrs. W. T. Hubbard of Oklahoma City.

Mrs. Frank Moore will be hostess in the Country club on the evening of Saturday, December 6, at the first of the fortnightly dances of the season.

The Piano Study club will meet with Mrs. Ernest Chlow on the morning of Wednesday at 10 o'clock in her home, 424 North E. Wood avenue.

Mrs. William Hargis Walker will entertain on the evening of December 4 in the Country club with a dancing party in honor of the young people in the Walker home. Misses charge is composed of all past eminent commanders and there are Eminent Knights and Sirs Robert H. Hanna, John R. Ramsey, Samuel R. Iye, Milton C. Hale, John A. Walker, George E. Dole, Frank W. Perry and Sir Knight Harry E. Hudson, the present eminent commander. The hosts will appear in their full Templar uniforms with sword excepted, their invitations beautifully inscribed, reading as follows: Trinity Commandery, Number Twenty, White Templar, requests the presence of yourself and ladies at a grand reception and ball Thursday evening, the fourth of December, 1919, in the Convention hall, Tulsa, Oklahoma, commencing at eight p. m. grand march at nine. Knights Templar exclusively. The invitations have been issued to local and visiting members.

The students membership recital and the activities of the Hyebech club will be given Friday evening in the library at 8 o'clock. This recital will be open to the public.

On account of the Gogorza concert on Tuesday evening, the Cadman club will postpone its meeting on Tuesday until Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the library.

Mrs. Ralph Archibald Smith will entertain with a children's party on the afternoon of December 3, in honor of the fifth birthday anniversary of her daughter, Katherine Lowell Smith. Invitations having been issued to this event among the small folk.

Informal

Miss Mamie Wood entertained with a line party yesterday afternoon at the Orpheum for her Tulsa giving visitors and college chums. All being students at the University of Oklahoma. Miss Gienna McBroon of Amarillo, Texas, and Miss Jessie Kellog of Oklahoma City. In the party were Misses Annelia Brown, Gladys Hildebrand, Marie Martin, Mildred Morrison, Blanche Creechmore, Maud Bradley, Peggy Anderson and Miss Betty Gustafson. Afterward luncheon was served in the Tea Cup Inn.

Mesdames Craig and Lloyd were joint hostesses on Friday evening to the members of the A. K. chapter, P. E. O. Chrysanthemum and autumn leaves were the decorations. A delightful repast was served during the evening.

Mrs. S. P. Hobbs entertained informally at bridge on Friday afternoon. Mrs. F. A. Avery made high score and was presented with a piece of Madeira embroidery. Luncheon was served on the card table. The guests being Mesdames B. A. Smith, June O'Hair, John Derrico, C. N. Kingsberry, P. N. Sheehan, Sedan, Hunnicutt, Frederick O'barn, H. R. Williams, Frank Munson, Waldo Richardson, F. G. Avery and Mrs. Edward Conwell.

Mrs. Carl McCrea complimented Mrs. Lawrence J. Bentley with a miscellaneous shower and took party during the week; a pretty luncheon concluding the courtesy. With the honor guest, Mrs. McCrea's guests were Mesdames Claude Tuttle, W. Lloyd Lewis, John Schott, Virgie Rader, George Maitson, Frank Spaw and Mrs. C. G. Garrett.

One of the pleasant events of the week was the dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hunt on Tuesday in honor of their fifth wedding anniversary. They having with them at this time, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Casbeer, Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Nickelson and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lifer. After the elegant repast in the Country club, the bill at the Orpheum concluded the evening.

Mrs. O. E. Sinks entertained Saturday with a buffet luncheon in her home, honoring Mrs. W. A. Coleman's guests, Mrs. Hulbert and Raines of Oklahoma City. The season in this home being replete with cordial hospitality for all guests present.

Mrs. Ruth Greenleaf was hostess Saturday, entertaining with a box party for Mrs. Harry Priest and Mrs. Irma Robinson of Oklahoma City. Enjoying this courtesy were Mrs. O. G. McClintock, Mrs. James B. Diggs, Mrs. Edward Lashley and Mrs. Hershberger of Bartlesville. Mrs. Clarence Taylor, Mrs. Ben Curtis and Mrs. Hubbard Rudiell.

luncheon was served afterwards. Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Thomas entertained Tuesday evening at dinner with a beautiful dinner in honor of their golden wedding anniversary. There were 12 covers and a pretty program was shown in the exquisite floral embellishments, golden chrysanthemums and autumn leaves.

No matter how many toys the children receive, they are not contented without a Christmas book. I saw the most charming one imaginable at the Mary Jane Children's shop, 15 East Fifth.

Winter stockings no longer mean the old fashioned variety with stripes and dots, but today they are carefully woven with the thought of making them as attractive a part of the street costume as any other dress accessory.

Mr. Oberlander of Oberlander & Linsky, New York, has just returned from a 10-day trip to the city. My interview with Mr. Oberlander disclosed the fact that his stock had been very unusual here this season, and with Tulsa women requiring the best and most exclusive models and realizing the scarcity of the better quality goods, he has decided in order to replenish his exceptional showing at the Demorest Ladies Shop, South Main, being successful in securing a large collection of exceptional quality goods, he has decided to make some very special prices for a short time.

Sachet bags and floral jars are the favored novelties employed to give a touch of the old to the new.

There is unlimited charm about the Harry Heibron Jewelry store, South Main, for the Christmas shopper. For the simplest gift of a small piece of jewelry, a ring or a thousand and one suggestions, you find there, on up to the most exquisite and luxurious of gems, or a chest of Gorham silver. It is all here in a variety of styles, and when sent from this reliable house the gift carries distinction that gives happiness to the one who receives it and pride to the giver.

They do say that lips are on their way back to favor. At least we read 'so from an article, written recently, by Lady Duff Gordon.

Here is a suggestion for a wonderful Christmas gift. Select a picture from the gallery of the Tulsa Art and Gift shop, 520 South Main. They have recently added many new studies from our most popular American artists.

Sweaters remain good and are considered a necessity in midday's wardrobe for southern wear.

Like the ideal woman, the ideal hat is like a veil, it is invisible and beautiful, and this ideal is charmingly achieved in the richly embroidered Japanese bathrobes of quilted silk at Renberg's. Also they make a very pretty party set.

Probably Jennie and Lavin are the two Paris designers who supply us with the most "safe and sane" and wearable styles.

Music and toasts were interspersed during the happy season and those present were Messrs. Earl Mosheim, W. A. Everett, Clifford E. Byers, Gordon P. Impney, Harold Corbett.

Elizabeth Ann Looks About Town and She Says—

Here we are Right up to December And it is Such a short While before Christmas That everyone Is too busy To read Anything Not Appropos To holiday Time and This Column Will Devote Every Possible Moment toward Making your Shopping easy In a "nut shell" By Giving you All the news About Where To find the Useful, Attractive, As well as Luxurious ideas For gifts, for Wearing Apparel, Or for the home, Elizabeth Ann Is at your Service, Phone Or Write her For Assistance In your shopping.

That gift package may contain some thing desirable, it could be something exquisitely luxurious, no matter what it may be, it will have charm and distinction and will go to its destination in a very Christmas-like manner so mysteriously alluring if it goes from Miss Jackson's Exclusive shop in the Sinclair building.

Some of the new scarf, muff and hat sets are extremely becoming and are especially popular for southern wear.

Toys, toys, toys—you cannot repress this exclamation when you visit the Mary Jane Children's shop, 15 East Fifth, for their are delightful toys in certain and when you were a child again if only for Christmas.

It is said that in ancient times the word "style" applied to a religious enthusiasm who took up his abode in the top of a pillar. This doesn't express our interpretation of it today, does it?

It has always been a marvel to me when the Home Decorating Co., 311 South Boston, get their striking and beautiful, in fact, no matter what you are looking for in their drapery department, you are sure to find it in some lovely unexpected design that delights you and makes you feel happy to think you went to the Home Decorating Co.

More and more the fur coats are taking the lines formerly confined to cloth fabrics.

You just can't resist, having another suit of street dress when you see the wonderfully attractive models they are showing at the Demorest Ladies shop, South Main, at prices you cannot resist.

Ornamental bathrobes are worn in Paris at all times of day, with the line of the full shaped at the sides of the face, which is usually powdered with yellow powder which is much in vogue with the French women at present and with which rouge is not used but the lips are reddened a trifle.

I dropped into the Tulsa Art and Gift shop, 520 South Main, with the firm intention of buying you a full list of the new arrivals but found them so numerous I just decided to tell you to visit this exceptional shop as they certainly have many delightful and tempting surprises for you.

In Paris, it is said that many women wear the one-button gloves, Christmas is the time when you see the wonderfully attractive models they are showing at the Demorest Ladies shop, South Main, at prices you cannot resist.

Many of the power short sleeves are in puff effect like a tiny baby sleeve and the collars of the moment are also very interesting.

The Tulsa Flower shop, 13 West Fifth, is becoming more popular every day and is a wonder for their ever supply of strictly fresh cut flowers and excellent service entitles them to popularity.

Music and toasts were interspersed during the happy season and those present were Messrs. Earl Mosheim, W. A. Everett, Clifford E. Byers, Gordon P. Impney, Harold Corbett.

Elizabeth Ann Looks About Town and She Says—

The most cheerful looking baskets of lovely artificial flowers for your sun porch or they would brighten up any dark corner of the house at 8, J. McGee Co., 23 West Third street.

Before the war we were accustomed to view at the races, wonderful dresses from famous houses, but today it is different, for about all one sees is a grand display of exquisite furs.

Paris fashion has said that no evening gown is complete in its loveliness unless it is accomplished by the correct ostrich fan. I saw several exquisite ones at Miss Leigh's Smart Vogue shop, in the new Wright building.

One of the Paris newspapers quotes the French couturiers as declaring that the trouser skirt has become a necessity.

Furs are on the essential list in fashion's blue book and no more lovely Christmas gift has yet been invented. If you choose your furs now, Mrs. Maddon, 10 East Fifth, will care for them until time for Yuletide delivery.

The "Belgium" buckle is covered with black silk and has three cord knots on the corners, while there are drops of red, yellow and purple beads finished off with long jet pendants.

If wishes were cars, I'd wish for a Detroit Electric, a Milligan Light Electric from the Horton Bros. Motor Co., 619 South Boulder. These are easily the most beautiful electric made and the sum total of their desirability includes comfort, utility and driving and riding ease.

Christmas shopping is going on in earnest in Tulsa town and evidently a goodly number of folks will avoid that last desperate rush.

Yes, indeed, Miss Marjorie Smith or Miss Leigh's Smart Vogue exhibit of portable water coloring at the Tulsa Art and Gift shop, 520 South Main, but she tells me the time is limited to next week for orders which can be delivered by Christmas. Better make an appointment at once.

Georgette soutache is a braid made entirely of wool fiber silk and is very soft and pliable, making it desirable for thin material.

Can you imagine the one-third off on all suits, including the fur-trimmed models at Miss Leigh's Smart Vogue shop in the New Wright building.

The selling of the neck and shoulder with a stiff collar and not is practiced by conservative women to whom extreme décolletage does not appeal.

H. I. Minnis, Mrs. Carrie Taylor, H. E. Thomas of Piedmont, Mo., Messrs. W. H. Thomas of Kansas City, and Mr. Aubrey Thomas.

The stars incline, but do not compel, as Will Rogers says, to the comedy "Almost a Husband" at the Mabette the first part of this week, is both inclined and compelled to matrimony. The play is based on the Huxley novel. Mr. Rogers, by the way, seems made of sterner stuff than some motion picture stars, for he's a real masculine man as well as a clever actor.

Yuletide this season has brought forth more than 67 varieties of fashions in fascinating patterns that enhance the beauty of the complexion which they half conceal, half disclose.

Mr. Backwell, of the Demorest Ladies shop, South Main, has gone to New York, where he will select the latest work in mid-winter creations for this popular and progressive house. Watch for these new arrivals for you are always assured of something "different" when Mr. Backwell is in New York.

The famous "camp gown" which will be worn by an equally famous movie star in a forthcoming film is of gorgeous silk in a slightly shabby style.

Cool weather calls for an electric and an electric calls for the Detroit or Milburn Light Electric and for these call on the Horton Bros. Motor Co., 619 South Boulder. Telephone Osage 528.

There is no doubt that sports apparel is becoming more important, principally because there is an increasing tendency towards the outdoors and much more so.

Handbags headed in patterns culled from the tapestries of fabulous crutch palaces are the latest arrivals at Renberg's.

Bright shades are being used in georgettes and tafetas and the latter fabric is being featured both for street and afternoon wear.

If you will give a Yuletide remembrance for which you will be long remembered, choose Pathé records from the Exclusive Pathé records, 8 West Fifth. Each Pathé record can be played a thousand times and if your friend thinks of you each time—well, you can figure out the rest for yourself.

There is no material so popular for corsets as brocade, which has become much used, even in manufacturers' first ranking corsets attractive to the eye.

Don't delay ordering your greeting cards or having your gift of stationery photographed by the Fairbanks Photo Co., 218 S. South Boulder, for they will be nice to receive them before the big rush.

Hips are "in" in suits, too, which also means that they are "out" in the jaunty ripple jackets.

I was looking over the collection of handbags at the Exclusive Pathé records, 8 West Fifth. Each Pathé record can be played a thousand times and if your friend thinks of you each time—well, you can figure out the rest for yourself.
